Dear Free Times Reader,

91.1 WRUW is going through a very exciting time right now. Never has Cleveland radio been so boring. Never does a station play over 20 different formats in a given week and play them all well, except for 91.1 WRUW. If you haven't tuned into 91.1 WRUW yet, you should. Instead of listening to the same boring music from the 70's and 80's, you can listen to shows like Splatter Rock on Monday mornings, Anarchists Songbook on Wednesday afternoon, and Your Favorite Rebellion on Friday nights. These shows put a new spin on rock. A spin you won't get from the other stations in town, who don't care about anything but the dollar bill. You can also listen to Reggae Friday, which kicks off with Riddim Drop at noon and goes until Night of the Living Dread closes out the afternoon at seven. Seven hours of reggae, what a perfect way to close out the work week.

These are just some of the more than seventy shows that are on WRUW every week. These shows are on the cutting edge. They dare to be different. Something the commercial stations in town don't think you're savvy enough to enjoy. From rock to polka, from reggae to punk, from classical to showtunes, from blues and folk to metal and industrial, you can hear it all during the course of a week on 91.1 WRUW.

Don't forget about Studio-A-Rama, a live concert sponsored and simulcast by WRUW, on Saturday July 31 in the Mather Courtyard on the campus of Case Western Reserve University in lovely University Circle. Call 216-368-2208 for more information. Which features local bands, as well as a

To paraphrase a station which used to be on the air on the other end of the dial, 91.1 WRUW is "Cleveland's Only Alternative". Listen to 91.1 WRUW today, before we get too popular and have to sell out.

Thank you,
